A little about the show and its host, Jake Lafleur:

I was born and raised a Texan originally from El Paso, but I grew up just on the outskirts of Houston in Katy, TX. I have had a passion for sports since I was born. I played competitive sports from the age of 4 through my high school years, including baseball and basketball. Don't let my size fool you, I was like Shaquille O'Neal inside the paint. When I reached the high school level I narrowed down my athletic to just two sports which were football and lacrosse. I was an All-State defenseman in lacrosse my junior and senior year of high school, but unfortunately genetics wasn't on my side and I had to call it quits after high school. I could no longer play sports, so I took my talents to Huntsville, Texas where I enrolled at Sam Houston State University and traded in the cleats for a microphone. I have studied at Sam Houston State University now for three years, and I am entering my final year of my undergraduate program. I will graduate next August with my bachelor degree in Mass Communication Multi-Platform Journalism. I currently work for the Fox Network Center in The Woodlands for their Fox Sports stations as a Pro-Cut Editor, but my career goal is to make it to the big stage, debate with the best of the best, and to make a living in the one thing that I know best in this world, SPORTS! Now I have taken my love for sports and the communication education I have gained and put it towards my sports talk show, Jake From Sports Talk. This show is a sports talk show that is broadcasted from the heart of downtown Conroe, Texas from the Lone Star Community Radio station. My goal as the host of this show is to bring all the listeners from the Montgomery County area and beyond the latest news and information from the sports world in a fun, unbiased, and entertaining way. There are hot takes, rants, and the occasional heated discussion, but at the end of the day it's all done in good fun with one goal in mind, entertain my listening and viewing audience. Tune in for yourself and see how big this small-town show really is!
